Section - D

Answer the following passage-based questions

(4x3=12)

31) Excavating Mesopotamian Towns

Take the small town at Abu Salabikh about 10 hectares in area in 2500 BCE with a population less than 10,000. A few houses that were discovered were excavated. The archaeologists sieved through tons of earth to recover plant and animal remains and, in the process, identified many species of plants and animals and found large quantities of charred fish bones that had been swept out on to the streets. Plant seeds and fibre remained after dung cakes had been burned as fuel and thus kitchens were identified. Living rooms were those with fewer traces. Because they found the teeth of very young pigs on the streets, archaeologists concluded that pigs must have roamed freely here as in any other Mesopotamian town. In fact, one house burial contained pig bones – the dead person must have been given some pork for his nourishment the afterlife! The archaeologists also made microscopic studies of room floors to which rooms in a house were roofed (with poplar logs, palm leaves, straw, etc.) which were open to the sky.

- 31.1) How did the archaeologists identify kitchen? (1)
- 31.2) How Mesopotamians would have used pigs? (1)
- 31.3) How do archaeologists discover past? (2)
- 32) In the twelfth century, Abbess Hildegard of Bingen wrote:' Who would think of herding his entire cattle in one stable cows, donkeys, sheep, goats, without difference? Therefore, it is necessary to establish difference among human beings, so that they do not destroy each other ... God makes distinctions among his flock, in heaven as on earth. All are loved by him, yet there is no equality among them."
- 32.1) Abbess Hildegard belonged to which Order of European society? (1)
- 32.2) Which ritual did Abbess Hildegard contribute to church? (1)
- 32.3) What justification is given by Abbess Hildegard for the existent inequality among humans? (2)
- 33) William Tyndale (1494-1536), an English Lutheran translated the Bible into English in 1506, this defended his views:

'In this they be all agreed, to drive you from the knowledge of the scripture, and that ye shall not have the text thereof in the mother-tongue, and to keep the world still in darkness, to the intent they might sit in the consciences of the people, through vain superstition and false doctrine, to satisfy their proud ambition, and insatiable covetousness, and to exalt their own honour above king and emperor, yea, and above God himself ... Which thing only moved me to translate the New Testament. Because I had perceived by experience, how that it was impossible to establish the lay-people in any truth, except the scripture were plainly laid before their eyes in their mother-tongue, that they might see the process, order, and meaning of the text.

(33.1) William Tyndale was a catholic, True or False? (1)

(33.2) What led to the translation of New Testament? (1)

(33.3) Why did William Tyndale translate Bible? (2)
